

Hi! I'm Kat Ruth Buchanan.
It's nice to meet you. 😊

I'm a 27-year-old digital native and creative, currently attending KU's Full-Stack Coding Bootcamp. As a front-end web developer, I specialize in user interfaces and user experience with an emphasis on clean design.

I have worn many different hats in my professional life and my full resume reflects this — from design and photography to running catering events and serving up tiki cocktails: from building websites and branding to making wine and pouring it for customers. It's my mission as a professional to consistently deliver an efficient, polished and memorable experience to all clients, colleagues and superiors in my given field.
